California Ranch News

Farm homes in California have from two to four times the number of modern conveniences shown by a survey made by the General Federation of Woman's Clubs, to exist as an average over the United States.

California beef cattle markets are holding steady and prices compare very favorably with those of last January, February and March, which is an unusual condition, according to R. M. Hagen, assistant managing director of the California Cattlemen's Association.

Peach growers in San Joaquin county are standing pat on demands of $30 a ton for Tuscan peaches, and declare they will let them rot on the trees before they will accept $21 offered by canners. The local branch of the Richmond Chase Cannery says it will start this week on peaches from Marysville.

Vast fields of cotton in the San Joaquin valley are bursting into bloom and cotton growers are anticipating a good year as the result of the 34,000-acre reduction in the cotton area in this State from last year as reported by the California crop reporting service. Already several Fresno county men have resolved to be the first to harvest a bale of cotton.

A deleterious repast of 209,278 pounds of poisoned grain was served during the last fiscal year by Horticultural Commissioned W. C. Barber and his staff, to Kern County ground squirrels, mice and other pests, in the warfare conducted for their extermination. The drive cost $23,062, of which the county provided $5,072, while the land owners in whose districts the battle was waged paid the balance. In addition to the grain, the commissioner used 890 gallons of carbon bisulphide.

Earlimart, Tulare county, is rapidly assuming a position of importance as a melon shipping center in the San Joaquin Valley, figures released at the local Southern Pacific station for the season, showing seventy-eight cars of watermelons and eighteen of cantaloupes already shipped. In addition to the train shipments the equal of several carloads is taken from fields each day by trucks. Cantaloupes are also being shipped from Radnor, a station on the railroad, four miles south of Earlimart.

Although Placer county as a whole has shipped only about fifty per cent of the amount of fruit that had been sent out by this time last season, growers and shippers are very optimistic over the prices fruit from this county has been bringing on the eastern markets, especially during the present week. The plum market is so strong it is bringing back memories of the war and early post war days, when $2,000 cars were so common they attracted little attention. This week Auburn, Newcastle, Penryn and Loomis all report cars of fruit passing the $2,500 per car mark, and in some instances as high as $2,700 a car has been reached.

Six bankers and business mens tours have been held by the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California in the counties of the state. In Santa Cruz, 123 men from the cities were on the tour; in Orange county 110, in Yuba 32, San Luis Obispo 125, Ventura 125 and Tulare 44. Similar tours are planned for all the counties to acquaint the business men of the cities with the work being done in the country.

The Los Angeles County Fair poultry show to be held in Pomona September 20 to 24, has been selected by the American Bantam Association for its California jubilee meet and the organization has offered a number of special premiums. An eastern Bantam judge has been engaged to place the ribbons, according to Jaul E. Kenyon, superintendent of the poultry department of the fair.

An experiment in raising corn from seed that is thirty-five years old is proving very successful. This is according to J. A. Bowen of Lodi, who has cornstalks over ten feet in hight growing in his garden. The original ear of corn was grown at Barrington, R. I., by Bowman's father, who kept it fifteen years before turning the ear over to his son. Bowen kept the ear of corn as a matter of sentiment. This year he decided to try and grow more of the same kind of corn. He removed fifteen grains from the cob and soaked them in water before planting.

Golden State
News of Interest to All

Los Angeles, officially the richest agricultural county in the world since 1919, has maintained its place as having the most farms of any county in the State, according to statistics of the Bureau of the Census just issued for 1925.

Ignoring the pessimistic advice of her friends, Mrs. Arthur West, of Sonoma, a woman miner, has relocated a rich vein of gold in the abandoned Ren mine near Confidence. She started a tunnel 20 feet above the original bore and soon struck a vein eight feet wide near the surface, showing free gold.

Approximately $38,550 is to be expended for telephone cable construction in the main district of the San Diego exchange, according to an announcement by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The date of beginning the work has not yet been announced.

Los Angeles' new City Hall, now rapidly nearing completion may be equipped with four of the most beautiful chimes of the Westminster type possessed by any public building in America, it was revealed for the first time last week.

The state of California and the United States Department of Agriculture will co-operate in a practical forest research, it was learned in a wire dispatch from W. A. Johnstone of the state board of control. Everything pertaining to forest protection and lumbering management will be included. Best methods for controlling fires, maintaining patrols and equipment, and broadcasting warnings, will be investigated. The state will spend $7,500 per year while the government will spend, in 1928 a total of $30,000.

Natural gas to supply San Francisco may be developed in the Goose Lake area of Kern county, 15 miles southwest of Wasco, as a result of the decision of the Milham Exploration Company to make tests for gas in two wells that are being completed in the district. The exploration was for oil, but both holes were still in blue shale after having been drilled for more than 4,000 feet. An immense gas one was encountered, it was stated by C. C. Atkinson, superintendent.

California's population has reached the approximate total of 5,500,000 on the 1st inst., and ten southern counties having 55 per cent of all the residents of the State, according to statistics and estimates just prepared for A. T. Pelton, president of the Interstate Mortgage and Investment Company. Mr. Pelton explained that the above figure pertains only to permanent residents, or those whose legal residence is in the State.

San Francisco will gain a new $1,000,000 industry employing 500 persons through the action of the Board of Supervisors in granting a permit for a new spur track crossing Beale street between Howard and Folsom streets, it was predicted by Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher. Declaring that he would violate a confidence if he gave the name of the firm which will use the new track, Gallagher revealed, however, that it will engage in the manufacture of "woolen goods and notions."

The days of flapperdom for all California girls under the age of 18 was automatically increased by three years on Friday of last week. The Legislature has decreed that a flapper continues to be a flapper until her twenty-first birthday and that until such time she shall not reach the age of majority and shall have no power to handle her own affairs. This new law, effective July 29, specifically reserves the right of matrimony without parental control to the girl of 18.

With permits from the Federal prohibition bureau to use 600,000 gallons of 12 per cent wine annually, the California plantation cannery of Stockton is preparing to process this year's pack of figs in California wine. Following issuance of the permits 30 days ago, the cannery cut several thousand cases from last year's pack, processed them under the method developed by J. L. Craig, head of the cannery, and placed them with the trade.

Plans for Fresno's newest theatre building, the Alexander Pantages, to be built at Fulton and Tuolumne streets, were filed with the building inspection division of the public works department, by Earl B. Newcomb, in charge of all construction for the Pantages organization. Newcomb indicated at the time of filing, that construction work would start as soon as possible. The plans must be checked by the building inspecction engineer, approved by Commissioner of Public Works Andrew M. Jensen, bids must be called for and the contracts let before the building of the two story, $225,000 structure can get under way.

FAMOUS DIVING HORSES TO BE AT STATE FAIR

Spectacular Act Will Be Given Afternoons and Evenings As Free Attraction.

A world famous spectacle—high diving horses with girls as riders—will be presented to State Fair visitors as a free attraction every afternoon and evening in front of the grandstand. This is annuonced by Secretary Chas. W. Paine, following the signing of a contract with Dr. W. F. Carver, owner and trainer of the horses.

These are the only diving horses in the world. The horses mount a high tower and dive forty feet into a shallow tank of water. They make the dive both alone and with girls as riders astride their backs.

The horses already have arrived at the fair gorunds and construction of the tank and tower will begin shortly. The tank and tower will be so placed that the plunge can be seen by all spectators.

The horses are large and beautiful specimens, one of them weighing more than 1400 pounds. Two of them are white and of the Arabian bred.

The high diving act is but one of many free attractions on the program of entertainment, which will include vaudeville, singing and dancing, vocal and instrumental music and boxing.

Concerts afternoons and evenings will be given by the 160 Infantry Band of the National Guard, directed by Professor Lo Forte. This band, which comes from Los Angeles, is recognized as one of the finest on the Pacific Coast.

Names on Boxes Aid Mail Delivery

Postal laws and regulations require that each Rural Patron's name be on his box. In order that there be no delay in the delivery of your mail, when the regular carrier is away or on a vacation, you are requested to have your name, route and box number and town on the side of the box from which the carrier approaches so he may make efficient delivery.

On our local route, Yeager will soon be on vacation and R. Y. Maxon, a temporary sub will serve during Mrs. Purmort's absence. Carriers can not be held responsible for wrong or mis-delivery where your box does not conform to rules and regulations.

At the stroke of midnight last Thursday the new California automobile speed limit of forty miles an hour became effective, the age of majority for native daughters was advanced to 21 years, alimony for husbands was made permissable while a divorce suit is pending, and it became a State prison offense to own a liquor still. Those are some of the 825 new laws which went into effect. The balance of the 898 measures passed by the 1927 Legislature will become operative between now and August 3.

California's population will reach 10,000,000 in 1950, Captain G. B. Baldwin, representing the educational department of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, told members of the Auburn Lions Club. He asserted the greatest portion of the growth will be in Northern California. This estimate was compiled by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in mapping plans for the future, he stated.

Carl J. Hauser, San Francisco, saved himself a certain life sentence in a California penitentiary by pleading to a charge of burglary, his third offense. Had he delayed his plea for a few days he would have been sentenced under the new law which went into effect on July 29, and under which the sentence for third offenders is life imprisonment. The trial judge will fix the penalty this week under the old law.

President Ellis Franklin of the Placer County Public Anglers' Association announces the appointment of a committee of six members to work with the state fish and game commission representatives this year in the planting of 300,000 trout in Placer county streams.

It is to cost Redlands about $5000 more each month, or $60,000 a year, to buy new roads for the State under the one cent additional gasoline tax, it has been estimated. It is estimated that there are close to half a million gallons of gasoline sold in the Redlands district each month in the year.

PRUNE PROBLEM FIRST AT CONSOLIDATED

Plans for Santa Clara county's participation in the State Fair and the seriousness of the present prune industry outlook were the topics of business at the monthly meeting of Santa Clara county consolidated held at the Milias Hotel in Gilroy, Tuesday noon.

After the singing of "America" and the welcoming speech of Max Crow, president of the Gilroy Chamber of Commerce, President Wendell C. Thomas called for suggestions and discussion as to the county's representation in the State Fair, September 3-10. He stated that he and Russell Pettit of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce, visited with Chas. Paine, manager of the fair, at Sacramento last week and fortunately secured a very fine location for the county's exhibit. It was formally voted that Wendell C. Thomas supervise the planning and building of the exhibit with the full co-operation of the representatives of all the communities of the county.

"No grower of prunes in the State of California can be worse off than he is at the present time and he certainly will not be taking much of a gamble in signing up his crop for a two-year period enabling this plan to be tried out," Stated H. S. Hershman in addressing the members on the prune industry outlook.

"If the sign up fails," Hershman continued, "it will be the fault of 1000 or less prune growers in the State. Should this terrible tragedy be allowed to happen by so few people? He emphasized his remarks by stating that he felt that there was no basis for believing that at any time there was such a situation as over production being possible. He stated that stabilization of the industry and establishing a destroyed confidence on the part of the Eastern buyers were the two factors to be made possible by this present plan, the only one ever advanced up to this time that will provide for control of the industry and distribution as well.

The plan of Prune week was discussed but it was decided that such plans must necessarily wait upon the success or failure of the present sing-up campaign. It was pointed out that plans for Prune Week and the resultant nation wide advertising would be of little value if the prune merger is not successful.

V. Manfredi, secretary of the Mt. View Chamber of Commerce, announced the dates of the Mt. View Prune and Apricot Exposition as September 13-17. He urged all those present to co-operate with his community in building the finest exposition they have ever held.

The next meeting of Consolidated to be held September 6th will be in San Jose.

Those present were: Max J. Crow, Gilroy Chamber of Commerce; Summerfield McCarteney, secretary; Mrs. Kirkpatrick, H. S. Hersman, F. C. Staniford, John E. Smith, Miss Muriel Ellis, Rev. S. D. Thomas, E. H. Green, W. F. Blake, Campbell: G. E. Farley, president; T. A. Cutting. Santa Clara: Dr. W. I. Wilcox. Los Gatos: Mrs. I. L. Colbath, secretary. Saratoga: L. C. Renn, Mrs. L. C. Renn. Mountain View: J. V. Manfredi, secretary. San Jose: Wendell C. Thomas, managing director. Fred Lewis, secretary; Russell E. Pettit, publicity director.

BANKER BOHNETT OPENS NEW OFFICE

Hester, pretty and thriving suburb of San Jose, is out to build up its business prestige and announces as an important step in this regard the opening of the new branch Bank of Italy building on Monday, August 15.

The branch originally started out several months ago as a branch of the Bank of San Jose. Later this institution was purchased by the Bank of Italy and naturally the Hester branch was included in the deal.

The growth of this branch is keeping step with the growth of the district, and the district is one of the livest centers in the San Jose region.

The management of the branch is in the hands of M. J. Bohnett, widely known in the San Jose region as a rising young banker. Bohnett took the branch when it was a humble, struggling little institution and has materially aided in making it one of the most thriving of the smaller units of the Bank of Italy.

The usual features of the later Italian renaissance, which has been adopted as the style for all future buildings of the bank, have been incorporated into the Hester Building. The banking room is being finished in ornamental plaster, with bronze counter screns and effectively-placed marble work. The building, a one-story part basement and mezzanine structure, is situated on the northeast corner of Hester avenue and The Alameda.

Appropriate ceremonies are being planned to mark the opening of the new building.

LIBRARY OPEN DAILY TO PUBLIC

The Campbell library will now be open two more days in the week, giving the people library service on every week day either in the afternoon or evening. The additional hours will be on Tuesday evenings from 7to 9. and Friday afternoons from 2 to 4. The hours on Friday have ben arranged specially for the benefit of students who ride on the school bus, and are not able to come to the library after school. Tuesday evening was chosen to increase the use of the library as a reading room.

New books are:

East of the Shadows, Following the Star	Barclay
Early Autumn	Bromfield
Hunted Woman	Curwood
Galahad	Erskine
Spell-Land	Kaye-Smith

LOSES TWO FINGERS

Vernon Miller met with a very unfortunate accident Saturday evening when the finger of his right hand caught in the sausage grinder at the Gilson Market.

He was taken at once to the O'Connor's hospital where one finger was amputated at once. One other was badly crushed and cut but was dressed and treated and every effort made to save it but on Wednesday that was also removed leaving the index and fourth ones.

At latest reports he was doing very well, but the maiming of a hand in young manhood is a serious loss and he is tendered the sincere sympathy of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Genasci returned Wednesday from their Reno-Tahoe trip and are enthusiastic about the beauties of both places. Like other visitors from this region the beautiful Truckee river flowing through the City of Reno particularly appealed to them.

UNDER-PRIVILEGED CHILD CLUB TOPIC

Fred Clancy was enthroned as "Kink" at the Kiwanis luncheon Tuesday and his silver tones touched the boys quite noticably.

Nic Hedegard was given his innings at which he gave some pertinent pointers on the water conservation project. Nic is thoroughly sold on the proposition as are most of the Kiwanians and he is trying to convince others of his community.

Guy Farley president of the Chamber of Commerce, urged the attendance of the Kiwanians at the next chamber meeting, Monday evening. It is the duty of all who believe in their town and its institutions to support this body.

Dean Whitman, Lou Shelley and Hal Cramer told of the building of four suitable showers at the Girl's Camp in Big Basin and the reconstruction of the dam. The local club has given the Camp Fires considerable support and this is another boost that will be greatly appreciated by the girls.

J. Warren Ayer of Los Gatos gave an interesting talk on the ideal education of service clubs and communities. There are three agencies that nurture ideals, the home, church and school, each of which has its important part to play in the life of the individual.

The real in life must rest on the ideal, the better the ideal the better the real. Ideals and holding to them is the only worthwhile aim of clubs and members. Kiwanis must make the community better morally or it falls short of its fundamental ideal of service. The public school is not a local institution only, but is also a State and national institution as its influence is far spread and the ideals there instilled into the youth are carried with him.

Dr. Clark Saunders will speak on the "Under Privileged Child," Tuesday evening. Frank Haliwell will be chairman of the hour.

WATER APPROPRIATION APPLIED FOR

The Valley Water Conservation Assoication has today, August 1, filed an application for appropriating water from the Los Gatos and Gaudalupe creeks as a part of its plan for conserving the flood waters. The application is filed with the division of water rights at Sacramento and calls for an annual diversion of 10,000 acre feet from each creek. On the Los Gatos, the water is to be diverted by a low dam into the Page ditch which is used as a percolating bed. On the Gaudalupe, the water is retained in the creek bed by means of two restraining dams and thus forced into the underground gravels.

Mr. I. M. Ingerson, an enigneer with the State Division of Water Rights at Sacramento, spent last Wednesday in the valley as guest of the water association. With the president he visited the Los Gatos creek where diversion is planned, but the larger part of the day was used in outlining the method of making out the application iin its proper form. County Engineer R. B. Chandler was taken into consultation and is preparing the necessary maps to accompany the applications. Mr. Chandler has been most helpful in all this preliminary work and the association wishes to publicly express its gratitude to him.

Injured in Collision

The Jesse Collins auto was wrecked at Hamilton and Johnson avenue corner Saturday evening. Mrs. Collins sustained a broken leg and had several teeth broken. Jesse Jr., a fractured knee. Both were taken to the county hospital for treatment and are improving.

Automobiles to Aid Dry Horses in N. Y.

Even a horse had a hard time getting a drink in New York. So the automobile is coming to the rescue of its one-time rival. In sections of New York where trucking is hard and heavy, and where the business of getting a drink is an important one, new automobile water-wagons are to furnish refreshments to thirsty horses, according to a report received by the National Automobile Club.

An animal ambulance and new hotel accomodations for stray dogs and cats are part of the same relief program.

Special Prize for One-Farm Exhibit

Products of small farms will be specially featured at the State Fair, September 3 to 10. Particular interest will come in the one-farm exhibits, which produce as high as 200 different varieties of products. Announcement has been made that the California National Bank at Sacramento has offered a sweepstake prize for the best one-farm exhibit. This is a trophy, a sterling silver pitcher, from a design originally made by Paul Revere, of Revolutionary War fame.

Sixteen States will be represented at the 1927 annual Pacific Coast Dairy Show to be held in Oakland November 14 to 19, next, Robert E. Jones, secretary and manager of the show, of Dan Diego, declared before the California Dairy Council meeting. There will be more than 1000 exhibits, he declared. Canada is taking an interest in the dairy situation and is to be represented.

A warning against undue laxness on account of a light pest infestation in fruit orchards was issued by the California department of agriculture. The amount of spray materials used in the control of pear pests this season has been below the average, it is stated. Growing conditions have been favorable and the crop in most districts has been good although the State average is slightly below normal. "Because of light pest infestations," says the Department, "growers should not relax their care of the orchards this fall lest those worms which were present multiply against next year's crop."

California's bovine martyrs—the thousands of cattle sacrificed during the campaign against the hoof and mouth epizootic—are to be forever preserved as far as the State can go. The first attempt to exhume the bones of the cattle was recently blocked by Dr. J. P. Iverson, chief of the division of animal industry of the State Department of Agriculture. A bone collector asked permission to dig up the bones of the large number of cattle in the San Joaquin valley. The request was denied.

WELCOME THE NEWCOMERS

We are not able to say exactly how many new families come into Campbell every year or every month. But whatever influx of population there is, whether large or small, should claim the attention of all citizens. New blood is healthful. The growth of any community is stronger because of it.

Let us at all times extend the hand of fellowship to our citizens by adoption. Freedom to travel to a new place, and to take up one's residence there and become a part of the community is a rich heritage made possible by the fortune of orderly government. But it is what happens to a man after he has arrived at his newly found home that is a help or detriment to him and to the community he enters.

Those of us who were not acutually born in this vicinity will call to mind how we felt when we first landed in Campbell. Wasn't it a "grand and glorious feelin'" to be given a hearty welcome, if indeed we were. It is well to remember that the new arrivals have their "ears to th ground" wanting to learn our ways and customs, and in nearly all cases wanting to become boosters for the town, and to do their share in its future expansion. When the newcomer knows that each one does his or her best for, and says his or her best of Campbell a good example is set for the support of home business. Then the new citizen falls in line, and the first thing we know everybody is benefitted.

TURNING LIGHT ON THE MOVIES

The movie industry is under investigation of the Department of Justice of the United States for alleged violation of anti-trust laws. The film companies deny the existence of unlawful combines and price-fixing. Whether anything damaging results to the motion picture industry it was inevitable that this, the fourth largest industry in the United States, should sooner or later be held under strict government scrutiny.

Moving pictures are close to the people, and have an influence economically as well as morally in relation to everday life. Then should not the people through their own government agencies want to get close enough to the business offices of the studios and film exchanges to find out what is going on? When an industry gets big enough to be in a class with wheat, steel and oil it must be prepared to show a bright face under the darkening shadow of monopoly.

It is to be hoped that no trust laws have been violated. And even if there have been no serious infractions the best thing that could happen to the film magnates is a thorough probe which, if it shows innocence should be as reliable in vindication as it might otherwise be in evidence of guilt.

THE FIVE MONTHS OF COMPARATIVE SAFETY

Fort Wayne, Indiana,, has just gone through five months without a single automobile accident fatality due, it is said, to a campaign by the National Safety Council in co-operation with Fort Wayne's schools, newspapers, radio stations and police and fire departments.

Fine! And it is our opinion that the agencies named could be depended upon to put over almost anything they tried anywhere else. When you get the schools formulating public opinion, the radio stations and newspapers distributing it, and the police and fire departments enforcing it, you've got a combination that's hard to beat.

Other towns and cities may have even a better record, but Fort Wayne happened to make the front page. Besides, it is a city of about 100,000 people, who are certainly to be congratulated. It was a splendid accomplishement.

BRING ON JESSIE JAMES!

If the story books and the tales of our grandfathers are true the outlaws of the Jesse James type occasionally had a little spark of honor. But the modern bandit has no honor, no fair-play, no self-respect. The dispatches give accounts of too many peace officers being killed or wounded without any provocation o rwithout any expectancy or occasion for the act.

No first-class "bad man" will engage in a one-sided battle. The criminal of today is not worthy of the name "bandit." "Cowardly scum of the earth" is even too good a name for him. There is no criminal of 1927 good enough to be recorded in history, much less to be the subject of heroism. If even the worst is true, Jesse James would be a credit to most of the thugs of the present time, some of whom are protected by law, pampered by juries, and sympathized with by the unsuspecting.

Just because the world is round is no reason you can be a rounder and get away with it.

A shooting affair is seldom a fair shooting.

Safety for Valuables

Safe deposit service, long recognised as essential to the householder who desires peace of mind, is no less necessary to the business house or professional man with valuable papers, blue prints, records and securities that must be kept in safety. For such possesions, most offices of the Americat Trust Company provide ideal protection in fire and burglar-proof vaults. The rentals are low.

Setting a new record mark for California for the purity of its milk supply, the city of Eureka has just reported to the Department of Agriculture that recent tests showed an average score of 96.9 per cent. The tests also showed the city's supply carries 20 per cent more solids than the ordinary run of high grade milk.

Representing the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, 26 women visited the University Farm at Davis during their tour of California to observe agricultural conditions there. The party was in charge of M. E. Mayes, directing manager of the Southwestern Cotton Growers Improvement Association. Associate Dean W. L. Howard, acted as host at the farm, explaining its purpose and activities.

The pear blight situation in 1927 caused considerable damage in some districts, it is stated, although most growers have been aware of the seriousness of this disease and have made special efforts at blight control.

The Pacific Slope Dairy Show to be held in Oakland, November 14-19 inclusive, is receiving widespread publicity in the industry this year through efforts of directors who have traveled to many parts of the world inviting dairy people to visit the show.

Every member of the realty board last week joined the drive to sign up acreage in the co-operative merger of the newly organized Prune Producers' Association, the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association and 14 packers. The plan is proposed as one that will stabilize the prune industry. Efforts were made to sign up an acreage of 32,000, the minimum required to start the plan. By August 17, if the new group is to control 90 per cent of the state's prune crop, 35,000 acres must be signed up.

THE PRINTER IS ALWAYS TO BLAME

EDSON S. DUNBAR

It may be sad, but still 'tis true,
There's one thing all we humans do,
And that is blame the printer.
He does his best, without our help,
For all we do is stand and yelp,
Then cuss, and blame, the printer.

We write our manuscript by pen.
To read it is beyond our ken,
Yet we expect the printer
To work it out and get it right.
We think not of his time or sight;
If wrong—we blame the printer.

We hold our stuff until the last,
Then try to rush it through so fast
The printer gets snowed under,
But still we camp upon his trail,
And prod him on with woeful tail
Or rant and roar like thunder.

He shoots it through, the proof we get—
But find the job is not right yet.
We chop that proof to splinters.
It takes two days before he knows,
Just what each hieroglyphic shows—
A dud lot are those printers.

The job's delivered. Some relief
To know were through with rush and grief.
We ought to thank the printer.
But, no! The poor man's luck is out—
He overcharged us without doubt.
Once more we cuss the printer.

—The Inland Printer.

Preliminary steps to include Merced county rice growers in the Rice Growers Association of California were taken when 35 growers and other interested in the industry met to hear the details of the organization outlined by J. A. Carver of Sacramento. While no action was taken, another meeting will probably be held this week. No serious objection to the association idea was voiced at the conference. The association has been functioning as a marketing organization in the Sacramento valley for the past six years.

Preparations are being started for the Eleventh Annual Glenn County Fair to be held at Orland September 19th to 24th. The Glenn fair has a reputation of being one of the best county exhibits in Superior California and this year's show is to be on a parity with other years.

The largest premium book ever published by the Tulare County Fair committee is being prepared for the 1927 event, to be held in September. The fair is expected to be larger than ever before.

Rev. Geo. Marsh Writes from Athens

School of Religion,
Athens, Greece,
June 30, 1927.

Our Dear Friends in Campbell:

As we look back over this second year of our work, we feel that though some of the novelty has worn off, our appreciation of the deep and vital interest and significance of the work has greatly increased. There were thirteen men in the boarding department the first semester, and twelve in the second. We consider ourselves very fortunate in having no serious illness among these members of the school family. Mrs. Sarkissian has been a good mother to us all, seeing that we had three nourishing and well cooked meals every day, and looking after our needs in many other directions. The size of the family has been increased by three each noon, when three young women of the school, who have taken thheir other meals at the American College for girls, have eaten with us. four noons a week, we have also had the great pleasure of having with us Professor Michaelides, who has added much to the good fellowship and happiness of the hour. Our great purpose has been to create a true family atmosphere and we believe it has grown through the year.

It has been a great satisfaction to have so many guests with us, usually twice a week, besides President and Mrs. Pye and their two jolly boys, Willard and Donald who have taken a meal with us every week as far as possible. Professor and Mrs. Levonian have also been frequent guests. Besides these we have had as table guests the various members of the Mission from the Mission House and the college, and the married students who live near the school, Mr. Stamboulian, pastor at large of the camps, and the camp pastors, other friends from Athens, and visitors at the school from all parts of the Near East, and, indeed, of the world. We particularly enjoyed a weekly visit at the school, and a visit from Dr. Bosworth, during the time of his lectureship.

The outstanding regret of the year was the long illness of President Pye. The fact that the work of the school went on smoothly, as it did during this period was a telling witness to the thoroughness with which he had laid the foundations of the school life, and also to the devotion with which he carried a large part of his work even during the time of weakness and intense pain. We were all very glad indeed to see him back at the end of the first semester. In April we were all made happy by the arrival of two members in the school community, Helen and Robert Levonian, born Easter morning.

Very much has been added to the efficiency and happiness of the school by the renting of a building next to Barton Hall, which has been used as a dormitory. This has been known as the annex. The particular attraction of the place has been its large yard, with trees, roses, other shrubs, and flower beds which have furnished us with geraniums, nasturiums, daisies, scarlet poppies, garden peas, and other joys. Best of all, this yard and small garden has given the whole student body a breathing place, and a quiet and peaceful outlook on to the hills and into the sky. Many a problem and many a sermon has been walked out and thought out in its happy seclusion. One of the married students was fortunate in securing two little rooms for his home in the yard next to that of the annex. Here the owners of the house have kept up a really beautiful vegetable garden, which separated from our yard by only a low wall has been a continuous delight to us all. And that student home has been a rendezvous and a real blessing for the whole student body. You will be interested to know that that student is our blind senior, one of the most intellectual, spiritual minded, and pracitcally helpful man in the school.

COUNTIES START EXHIBITS FOR THE STATE FAIR

With construction of county exhibits for the State Fair already under way, the most elaborate and attractive displays of this kind ever presented at the great annual exposition are assured. One of the reasons for early activity comes from the fact that there will be a greater representation of counties than ever before, which will make competition for prizes more keen.

When the State Fair opens September 3, the horticultural will be ablaze with light and color in the county exhibits, with the wealth and resources of the State spread out before the public.

San Joaquin county's exhibit already is taking shape under the hands of carpenters. This display will be kept covered until the opening day, as a surprise feature is promised.

Santa Clara county, which has been absent from the fair for several years, will be back this year. Wendell C. Thomas, president of the Santa Clara County Consolidated Chambers of Commerce, and Russell E. Pettit, publicity representative, have been in Sacramento making plans for the display, which will feature prunes.

H. B. Tubbs, representative of Monterey county, is in Sacramento planning the display of that county, which will feature fruits, vegetables and flowers.

24-HOUR SERVICE BY FERRY BOAT

Northwestern Pacific Places New Boats Between San Francisco And Sausalito.

Featuring an all-day and all-night service between San Francisco and Sausolito, the Northwestern Pacific has placed in operation new all-steel Diesal electric ferry boats and has established new reduced fares for this service.

Speed and comfort feature new Northwestern Pacific auto ferry boats, the "Redwood Empire," "Santa Rosa" and "Mendocino." Each of the new ferry boats has a capacity for 95 automobiles.

From early in the morning until late in the evening, the Northwestern Pacific ferry boats operate on 30-minute schedule—leaving the Ferry Building, San Francisco, on the even hour and half-hour, and leaving Sausolito at 15 and 45 minutes after the hour. Late-at-night and early-morning departures make up the complete schedule, furnishing continuous service between San Francisco and Marin county.

Fishing Reported Good In Lakes Near Bishop

Fishing is now very good in June and Gull lakes, near Bishop, according to the touring department of the National Automobile Club. The best flies for June lake are Dave Davis and the best at Gull lake are Jack Lloyd. Worms are good bait at both these lakes. The trails are now open to the headwaters of the San Joaquin, including the lakes, Thousand Isles, Shadow and Garnet. The first parties in to these lakes have reported extraordinarily good sport. The sage hen season also promises well in this district.

Oakdale claims the highest per capita bank deposits of any community in California for the first six months of 1927. The total deposits in the three banks there reached $2,930,497, an average deposit of $1400 for each citizen.

That construction work in Orange on the $50,000 First National Bank building which is to be erected on the former National Bank site will start by September 1, was predicted after the building committe awarded the architectural contracts to Los Angeles architects. Plans will be ready within 20 days.

Surley Knows His Bible

A letter to the editor of the New York Times tells of a Brooklyn (N. Y.) man who has read the Bible through 702 times. He lives at 1074 Bergen street, and his name is E. C. Lockhart. It has taken him some thirty-five years to do it, during two years of which time he read aloud to a man whom he was caring for eight hours a day, reading exclusively from the Bible. During all these years he practically has done no other reading. There are 1,180 chapters in the Bible. Reading these 702 times means 834,678 chapters. Sixty-six chapters a day for thirty-five years would accomplish the feat, the writer points out.

Advice on 'Road Hog' Given by Auto Club

"Don't give the 'road-hog' a chance to display his hoggishness."

That is the advice being given by the National Automobile Club as it routes its members in their travels throughout the United States. It is pointed out that one of the best methods of dealing with the selfish driver is that of denying him an opportunity of getting into action. While this means of treatment cannot be used against all types of "road-hogs," it is very effective in dealing with two of the most dangerous classes, namely; the "straight-at-you" driver and the driver who speeds up as he is being passed while another car is approaching from the opposite direction.

When a driver takes the middle of the road and noses his machine straight at the approaching car, it is better to turn out and let him speed by than to contest the road with him—far better than to risk a head-on collison.

Again, it is safer to be sure that there is sufficient room to pass a car before attempting to when there is an approaching car to be considered. Selfish drivers have no signal to show that they are passed. Their satisfaction comes from giving another driver a bad scare. The careful driver can experience no satisfaction that will repay him for the chances of a "wedge-collision" which is likely to be the result of such a situation if it is not perfectly timed.

For reasons of safety, the "road-hog" that cuts close in front of another car, must also be given the right-of-way although he by no means deserves it.

Until such a time as the "sluggard" is regulated by the motor vehicle laws, a lusty toot of the horn and a sharp eye to his movements are the only means of dealing with that type of driver.

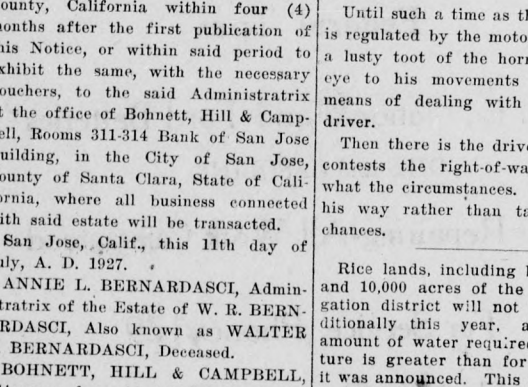
Then there is the driver who always contests the right-of-way, no matter what the circumstances. Let him have his way rather than take dangerous chances.

Rice lands, including between 8,000 and 10,000 acres of the Merced Irrigation district will not be taxed additionally this year, although the amount of water required in rice culture is greater than for other crops, it was announced. This provision has been made to encourage the production of rice which is now a new product for Merced, the report indicated.

An estimate made on the basis of baby lima bean crop of 225,000 sacks of 100 pounds each, places the threshing bill for bean growers in the San Fernando valley at $100.000 this year. Twenty threshing crews now in operation throughout this district are said by ranchers to be handling an average daily output of 8,000 sacks.

The first Thompson seedless grapes are expected to leave Exeter district this week. Like all other fruits this season, grapes are late this year. Red Malagas are expected to start to market from this section about this week. Peaches will also probably start then. Plums are cleaned up, the crop having been light this year, owing to weather conditions and damage from birds.

Preserving is cool and easy with the OvenHeat Control



YOU can preserve summer fruits that taste as delicious and remain as firm as on the day they were picked from the laden bough. Briefly, here's a cool, easy way—

Cool because you don't have to lift boiling kettles about the stove.

Easy because the Oven Heat Control on the new Gas Range is the secret of delicious home preserving that is done in the oven without watching or anxiety. Fruit is packed right in jars and put into the oven. You merely set the Oven Heat Control and steady, even heat preserves the fruit's firmness, its delicious fruit-flavor and color. Jams and jellies also are well preserved by this cool, simple way.

Visit the range displays and see the Oven Heat Control on the new Gas Ranges.

Mr. Joseph M. Parker,
General Manager,
California Prune & Apricot Grower's Ass'n,
San Jose, California.

Dear Mr. Parker:

When I first heard of the new plan that was being developed in California for the stabilization of the Prune Industry, I am quite frank in saying that I was not particularly impressed, for there had been so many California cooperative schemed at various times, which have proved abortive, that I regarded this as probably just another scheme of lifting one's self over the fence by tugging at one's boot straps.

On my recent visit to the Coast, however, having had the opportunity of discussing this plan with you in all its details, I am convinced that you have worked out an idea, which has great merit; and so I regard this tie-up of the units of grower and packer - with a due consideration for the distributor - as not on a new idea, but one that has a sound economic basis; the success of which will only depend upon the judgment and courage your marketing board displays in naming prices that will be at once low enough to move the crop rapidly into consumption and at the same time high enough to return the grower a fair compensation.

The California Prune Producers certainly have a big job on their hands, for speaking from a distributor's standpoint, the business has been very unsatisfactory to us now for a number of years. There has not been a year recently but that your markets have opened on values higher than could be maintained, with the result that loyal distributors, like ourselves, have been subjected to trememdous losses on our purchases and unless some scheme, either the proposed one or something like it that will relieve the situation is adopted, we, for one, will have had enough of the distributing Prune game.

Yours very truly,
Louis B. Parsons

San Jose, Calif.

Dear Mr. Parker:

During my recent visit to the Coast you will probably recall in the discussion of the Prune situation with you I made the statement that during the past five years Wm. A. Camp & Company had handled something over 3000 cars of California Dried Fruits, and that while some years we had had profits, on the average of the five-years our Dried Fruit account showed us no profit but very heavy loss.

I was most emphatic to you that unless the Dried Fruit business of California can be put on some basis whereby a distributor occupying the position with the trade which we do county, cannot be placed in the position whereby he can safely deal in your commodities and make at least a fair margin of profit in consideration of the efforts made and money invested, we would positively discontinue the handling of the California Dried Fruit line at the end of this year.

We will be interested in the outcome of the campaign in which you are at the present time engaged. While we have not attempted to study the details of your plan closely, we feel that in a general way from what we know of the plan, it might be workable and bring about more favorable results.

We wish you every success for the sake of the producer.

With kindest regards, we are,

Very sincerely yours,
Andrew Wilson

Packers Send Men Into Prune Field

SAN JOSE.—Following a meeting here of high officials of the state's leading packing firms all field men of the packers have been sent out to assist in signing members into the new cooperative, the California Prune Producers. This organization is composed entirely of independent prune growers.

The packer's representatives were released for the work after insistent requests had been made by officers and members of the California Prune Producers. The packers, 14 of them, and representing ninety-five per cent of the manufacturing and sales facilities of the prune industry have entered into a contract with the California Prune Marketing Company to act as manufacturers and sales agents for the growers.

For four years or more efforts have been made to line the packers up in such a plan, and this was the first time the growers have succeeded in the effort. The packers have wholeheartedly entered int the plan for the sake of the entire prune industry. Final success, however, rests with the independent growers themselves.

One of the largest silos in Sutter county, located on the R. L. Morehead place, near Sutter City, has been partially filled with corn ensilage which will furnish feed during the Winter for 125 head of cows. A big crop of corn was raised and cut up into ensilage, the stalks, leaves and heads making an excellent winter food. The silo is 40 feet high and 22 feet in diameter and will hold over 400 tons of ensilage.

Citrus growers of Tulare county nave started the navel orange harvest It has been the custom of local growers to ship some fruit for the Thanksgiving markets and it is believed this will be possible this year. Horticultural Commissioner Frank R. Brann and his aides are preparing to enforce the regulations strictly and they anticipate the customary co-operation received from growers and packers.

Chased by a railroad! That seems to be the predicament of Jacob Pfosi, assistant yardmaster in the Roseville freight yards. Pfosi worked as a switchman for thirteen years. In 1914 he was made general yardmaster of the Roseville yards, and he held the job for six years, when he decided to take an assistant foremanship. When Pfosi came to build himself a home, about ten years ago, he decided he had enough of switch engine exhausts to do him a life time, so he built his house south of Roseville where there were only the soft whisperings of the wind, where the all night chug! chug! of switch engines would not disturb his rest. About ten months ago the Pacific Fruit Express decided they needed new car repair yards, and that the proper place to build them was south of their present yards—which happens to be just at Jacob's doorstep.

While cleaning out a spring with a shovel on his ranch near San Andreas, Calaveras county, James Maxwell, Civil War veteran, discovered gold. Pieces of white quartz well sprinkled with gold were dug out, which aroused his interest to such an extent that he is now making a systematic search for the main ledge. Rock which is not of the specimen variety, he estimates will mill $200 to the ton.

The trustees of the high school of Redding have let the contract for furnishing the new building. The total cost of the furniture is $8765.35 and it is to be in place inside of thirty days. The $350,000 building will be ready for the opening of the terms in September.

Pasadena has 189,454 miles of wire in its telephone exchange, according to officials of the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company of Pasadena. Of this amount 143,025 miles are in underground cable and 46,429 miles in aerial cable.

An eighteen-hole golf course, to cost $400,000, will be constructed by a subsidiary of the Union League Club near Millbrae, sixteen miles from San Francisco, it was revealed last week.

Articles of incorporation of the Financial Center Company, which proposes to build a sixteen-story office building at the northeast corner of Seventh and J streets in the heart of Sacramento's new financial district, were filed last week.

Registration of applicants to take the State bar examination, to be held in San Francisco, August 1 to 4, is the largest in the history of such examination, it was announced by J. R. Martin, clerk of the District Court of Appeals. When registration closed last week 254 law students had enrolled.

Damage estimated at $25,000 was caused by a fire last week which broke out in San Francisco on the pier where 60,000 sacks of sugar were being loaded into the British steamer Incemore, and destroyed 4300 sacks of sugar. First reports said the fire was in the steamers hold, but the flames did not spread to the vessel.

It remained for Theodore Turner, Modesto's 90-year-old golfer, to break the old age golf record at Tahoe last week. Turner, believed to be the only nongenarian playing golf, turned in a card of 98 for the 18 holes. He played after a long automobile ride. According to veteran Tahoe players the course is a difficult one. Few golfers in the "Duffer" class break under 100, A. T. White, course expert at Tahoe said. Turner took up golf after he was 80 years old. He is a familiar figure on the Stanislaus County Club course.

A sixty-day vacation with pay will be granted all members of the American Legion employed by the city of San Francisco to enable them to attend the forthcoming convention of the Legion in Paris, France, under a resolution passed unanimously by the Board fo Supervisors. The resolution was presented by Supervisor Warren Shannon, who declared that passage of the bill "will, in a measure, demonstrate the gratitude of San Francisco to the doughboys who risked their all in defense of their country."
